In 15 years, Community Advocates Public Policy Institute moved the needle on critical issues facing our community. We've made clear progress toward many of our goals, including connecting housing policy to health issues, supporting the success of returning citizens to our community, reducing kids' and teens' access to potentially lethal substances, and promoting positive activities and life skills for our youth.

Still, as we mark our 15th anniversary in 2023, we have so much more to do. We aren't daunted by the challenges we face. We're excited about finding solutions to them.

That's why we're asking you to join us as a Member of Community Advocates Public Policy Institute—to share your insights, learn from our staff and partners, and help us to improve the health and well-being of our community members by changing the upstream conditions that cause poverty, substance misuse, and trauma.
